Motivation

- My parents and my family are mostly my motivation, because my ethnicity is Chinese but I never learn proper mandarin in school or in general. So I put everything in my power to learn more about my culture and my language.
- My second motivation is because that I think that going to the country is more helpful than staying in France and studying without realizing my mistakes.
- Taiwan has Mandarin as mother language so it helps me to realize the culture.

Plan

- My plan is to learn a better mandarin, I want to experience the life in Taiwan and to know more about the life style in Asia. I will take this advantage of this chance to expend my vision.

Experience

- I live in Taiwan for 3 months, until now I don't have much experience, I only study in the university and followed the Chinese course.
- To compare with France, the people I interacted in Taiwan, I found them very cute and very friendly. I feel always so good here, everyone are willing to help me even if I look like Taiwanese and sometimes I will use the wrong words but they do never mind.

University of Paris Cité

- My university is University of Paris Cité. Since 2019, it changed name twice, so it went from University of Paris 7 Diderot to University of Paris to University of Paris Cité.
- It has a lot of campus all over Paris and for my major, my campus is the one on the 13th district of Paris which is on the South of Paris.
